Reliance Supply Inc.

Software Used:
Keychain Synch

Parts Supply Company Increases sales with consumable ordering system.

Summary:

With a customized version of Proxis Software's Keychain Synch this supplier of fasteners and industrial supplies was able to increase their ordering throughput and speed their order delivery times.

The Keychain Synch software downloads barcode scans from a keychain barcode scanner like the Opticon OPN2001 or Symbol CS1504, stores them in a text file and Access database, and can even upload these text files automatically to an FTP server for processing or import into an ordering system.

Keychain Synch is digitally signed and tested rigorously to ensure its safety and security when deployed in various customer facing environments.
